Award-winning sources for genealogy research

Ancestry® Library Edition

Bring the world’s most popular consumer online genealogy resource to your library. Help your patrons unlock their families’ stories with billions of sources – like censuses, vital records, immigration records, family histories, military records, court and legal documents, directories, photos, maps, and more.

Fold3™ Library Edition

The premier military resource for historians, genealogists, researchers, military enthusiasts, veterans, teachers, and battle reenactors – and anyone who needs access to military history. Distributed exclusively by ProQuest into libraries, Fold3 Library Edition by Ancestry includes international and U.S. military records from the Revolutionary War to today, including the stories, photos, and personal documents of the men and women who served.

HeritageQuest® Online

An essential collection of genealogical and historical sources for more than 60 countries, with coverage dating back to the 1700s – helping people find their ancestors and discover details about their past.

Powered by Ancestry, HeritageQuest includes the original images of every federal census in the United States from 1790 through 1940, with every-name indexes for all years. Genealogy and local history books and directories deliver more than 6 million page images from more than 22,000 family and local histories, 1.5 billion city directories records, and other books. Your patrons will also find military records, Freedman’s Bank Records, U.S. Serial Set records, cemetery indexes, maps and photos, and new research aids.

Newspapers.com Library Edition

From the early 1700s to the early 2000s, Newspapers.com Library Edition contains full runs and portions of runs of more than 6,000 historical newspapers, including well-known, regional and state titles to small local newspapers in the U.S. and beyond.

ProQuest Research Companion

ProQuest’s award-winning information literacy resource includes nearly 90 customizable, short and engaging videos organized into 10 learning modules, practical tools to support students in building their critical thinking skills, and assessment features to measure student performance.

What’s new

Website Source Evaluation Tool – to help researchers think critically about their information sources, the Website Source Evaluation Aid tool now includes updates that flag potential hate sites and potential fake news, satirical and conspiratorial sites.

A new Learning Module – “How can I do better next time?” includes six videos created to help students reflect on their research and identify both what went well and what they could improve. Students are encouraged to think about not just their end results, but about the entire research process.

CultureGrams™

Diverse communities, well-traveled patrons, and major global events have expanded each of our personal “world views” and increased our need for understanding a wide array of cultures. No matter the user or their need, CultureGrams goes beyond basic facts and figures with local perspectives on more than 200 countries, detailing daily life and culture, including history, customs, and lifestyles.

From Afghanistan to Zimbabwe, each concise, reliable, and up-to-date report is written and reviewed by local experts, providing users with unique, intimate cultural details from a real insider’s perspective.

• World Edition contains primary-source reports on 209 countries and territories – including every United Nations member state – focusing on 25 cultural categories, including language, personal appearance, greetings, visiting, family, lifecycle, and more.

• States and Provinces Editions feature colorful, easy-to-read reports that describe the diversity and history of each U.S. state, the District of Columbia, and all 13 provinces of Canada.

• Kids Edition teaches upper-elementary and middle school children more about the world around them. Each report contains images, historical timelines, and fun facts, along with sections on history, population, “life as a kid,” games and sports, education, and more.
Syndetics Unbound™
